

Decision making is often based upon vested input and this input can influence decisions that affect citizens for years to come. In this great country the principles that have made it so are based upon diversity and collective wisdom, not collective ownership. History has been a great teacher of the deregulated business and conglomerates effect upon the people. Radio, telephone, energy are some of the arenas that we have witnesses the deregulation leading to confusion and profiteering by businesses who do not have the customers interest in mind other than they are good consumers. Especially when there are few alternatives. When considering Broadcast ownership - please be advocates for the millions of little people, the payers, the consumers who can not protect themselves save through our government agencies such as yours. Thank you for reading my comments.